United Way's role in your community:

- Collaborate with our partner programs to create change
- Convene new partners to identify new opportunities
- Connect volunteers with their passions
- Continue our stewardship role, monitoring the effective use of donor's contributions

Because of contributions last year . . .

8,437 school-age children and youth were mentored by supportive adults in programs outside of school, grew in their life skills and were supported in school-related achievements.

2,818 individuals and families increased their level of financial stability and understanding of budgeting basics to help them move forward in their lives.

27,182 children, adults and families felt healthier emotionally and physically as a result of increased coping skills and access to community resources.

53,637 children and adults obtained food, clothing, other basic necessities, received short-term financial assistance and/or resided in emergency shelter or transitional housing.

More than 11,600 children between birth and age five received free books through United Way's Imagination Library program.

6,461 people called 2-1-1 and received information on 11,989 community resources to help them or their families in Stearns, Benton, Sherburne and Wright counties.

Why is this important?

53% of 9th graders report that student alcohol and drug abuse is a problem at their school.

Nearly 50% of children in District #742 receive free and reduced lunches (and more often than not, that is their only hot meal of the day).

An average of 52% of school children reside in a one parent home . . . 85% of adult incarcerated offenders have grown up in one parent homes.

Local food shelves served more than 7,500 households last year.

It takes everyone in the community working together to create a brighter future.
